November's Demo

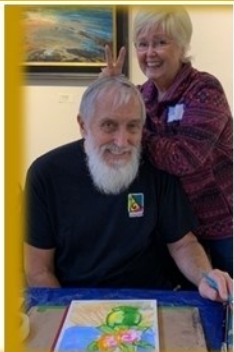

Re-Cap Ray Tucker

Ray opened the demo with the usage of GOUACHE, an opaque watercolor paint similar to watercolor in that it can be rewetted and dried to a matte finish. It's quick coverage and total hiding power lends itself to more direct painting techniques than watercolor, as in 'plein air' paintings, posters, illustrations, and comics. Ray has mastered his methods and his floral paintings show it.

"Plan like a turtle, paint like a rabbit."

Brush Sketch

During break, members flock to Ray's table to browse through his prints, calendars, and paintings. ↓

PVAA SOHO GALLERY MEMBER

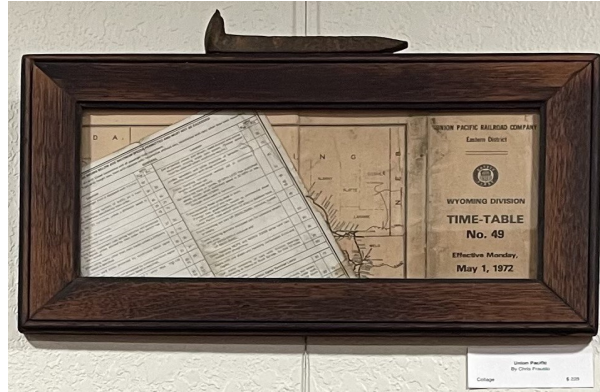

AAIE member, Chris Frausto, was recently honored to have had the pleasure of judging the San Bernardino Art Association's 2023 Open Art Exhibit.

She was recently appointed as monthly ArtWalk Chair for PVAA'S Gallery SoHo, and invites all artists to become a member of PVAA and have a chance of showing their art in Gallery SoHo in downtown Claremont.

Chris recently curated local artist Suzan Perry's work in Rancho Cucamonga's Klatch Coffee Gallery.

Contact Chris if you are interested in showing your work at the Klatch.
